RELEASE AND WAIVER FROM LIABILITY

I understand that a nature outing presents enjoyment as well as obvious and necessary risks. These include, but are not limited to: insect bites or stings, poison ivy, Lyme disease, seasickness, slipping and falling, a sprained ankle or broken bones, vehicle accidents, frostbite, or even a sore neck from looking at birds high in the trees. I am aware that an accident or illness on an outing could occur in a remote location without immediate access to medical treatment. Moreover, I am in good health and able to participate in High Lonesome BirdTours outings.

I understand that many risks are beyond the control of High Lonesome BirdTours. In signing this document, I voluntarily assume the risks of injury or property damage, and release High Lonesome BirdTours, its owner, employees, agents, and contractors from any and all liability for personal injury or property damage resulting from negligence or any cause.

I have read and understand the general information and conditions below, as well as the terms of this waiver, and agree that all these terms and conditions apply to any trip I may take with High Lonesome BirdTours.
